We often think of “hazardous material” as always a bad thing. But, many of the products we encounter in our daily life are very useful and make our lives better. How many can you identify in this picture? Here are just a few: plastic bottles, CD’s and DVD’s, and cloth fibers.

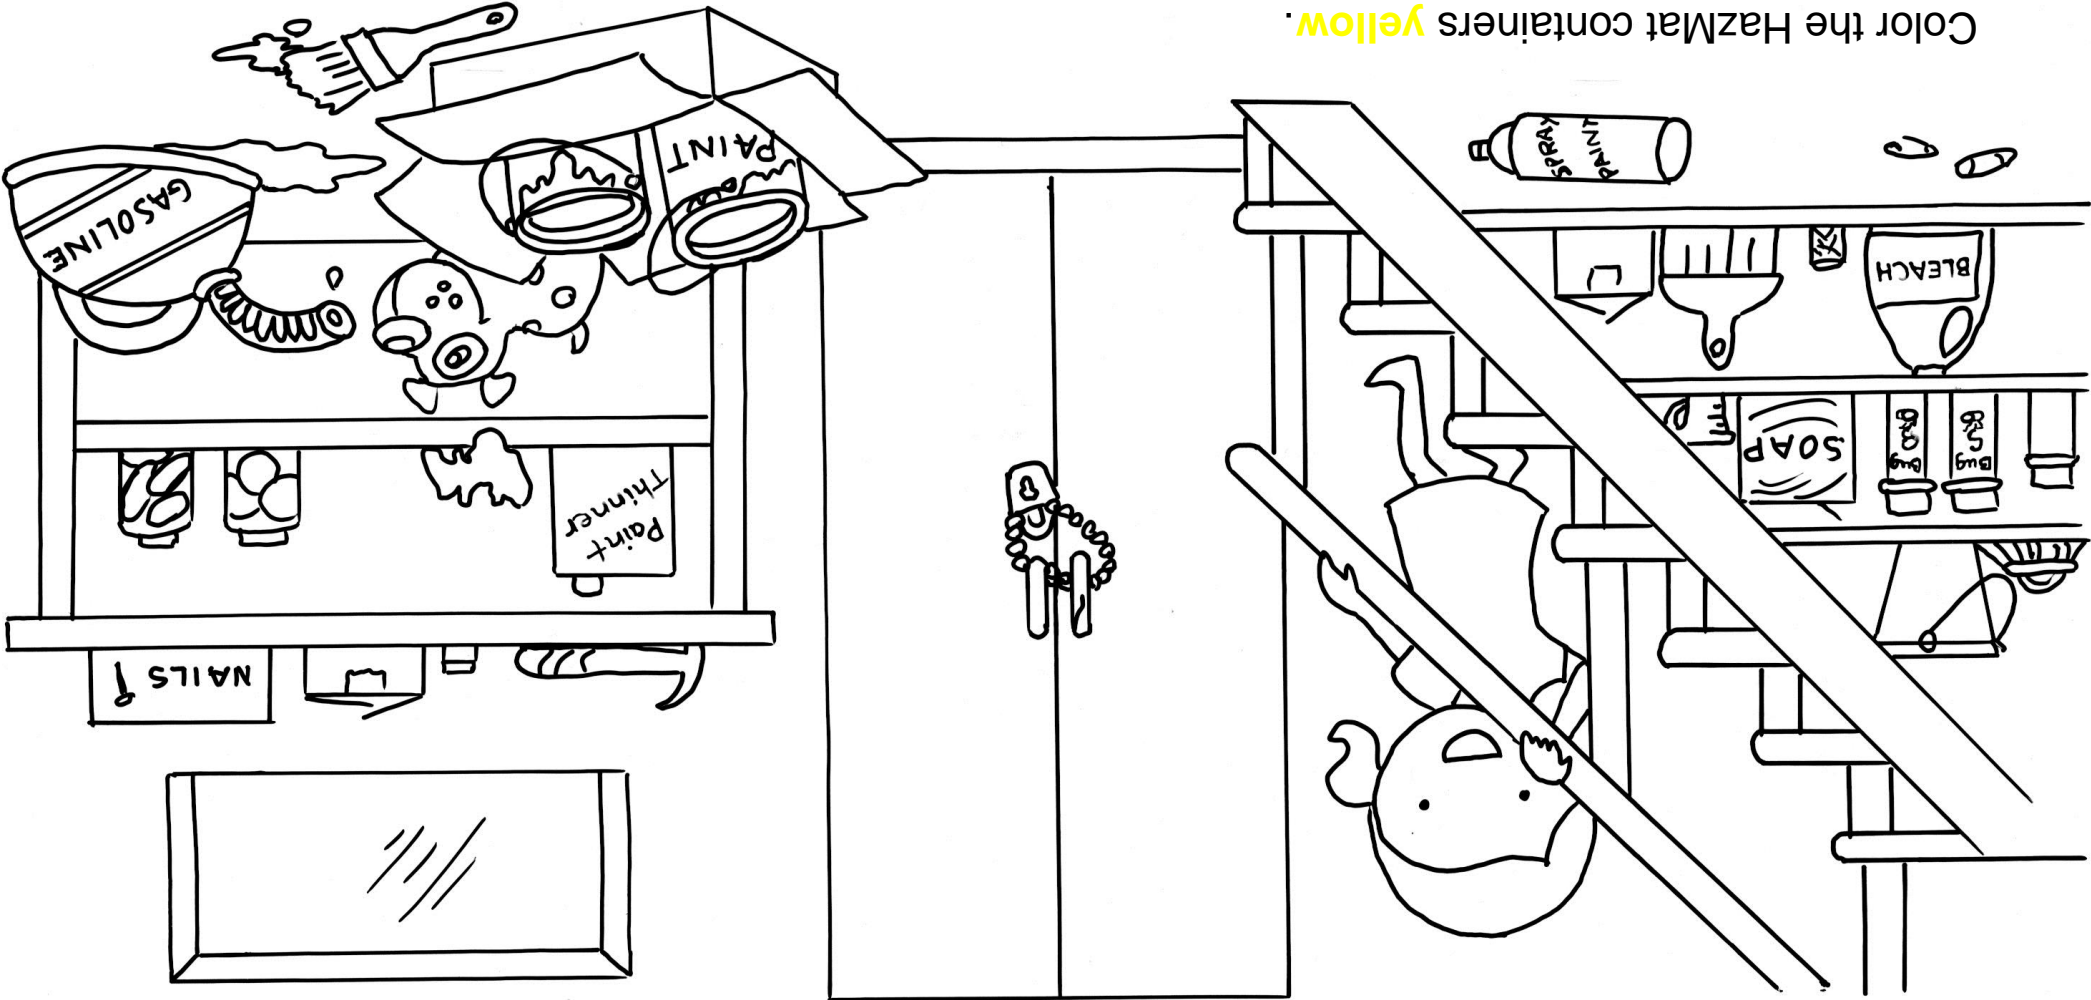

HELPING THE PLANET: Recycling and reusing everyday household products that contain hazardous materials can save money and reduce the need for generating more hazardous substances.

Evacuation is the act of leaving where you are to go to a safe place. Emergency officials may ask residents to evacuate in the event of a Hazardous Materials incident.

Does your family have an “Emergency Survival Kit” ?

Do you?

Act immediately if instructed to evacuate. Listen carefully to Emergency Alert System (EAS) messages on radio stations. Officials will indicate what areas to evacuate, which way to go, and when it is safe to return.

Many of the medicines made for people, like Tylenol, can be poisonous to pets. If you think your pet is sick ask mom or dad to take them to the veterinarian.

If you see a bright green or yellow liquid on the ground keep your pets away from the puddle and let an adult know about it.

Paints give off fumes which can give you a headache and irritate your eyes, nose and throat. Always open the windows and doors fully in a room that is being painted. Put a box fan in the window directing the air and fumes out of doors while painting and for about 48 hours thereafter.

Learn more about Storage & Disposal of Hazmat materials:

When assessing our home for hazardous material safety storage is a high priority. Appropriate care and safety are also required when considering how to properly dispose of hazardous materials and their containers.

If your video game console or cartridge/disc no longer works, find a location to recycle it. This way, toxic elements will be removed responsibly and metals and plastics can be reprocessed into new electronic products.
